Frankland Associates Recruitment & Search launch a new website

New Website

April 2008

Our new website is now live!

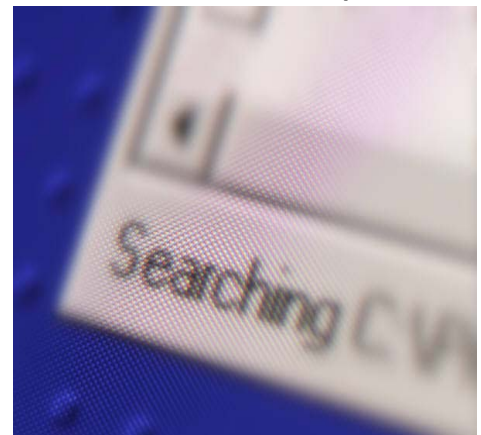

As well as being easier to navigate, our site should now be more search engine friendly.

www.franklandassociates.com should now be in prime position in any search for recruitment vacancies.

Please browse around our site; we have many new pages that you may wish to bookmark:

Busy start to 2008

The first quarter of 2008 is proving busier than 2007 - our clients report expansion plans over this year and next, with experienced recruitment consultants as in demand as ever.

We are experts at identifying potential in trainee's; we'd be pleased to help if your current teams can support a Trainee Recruitment Consultant.

How can we help you?

We now have a comprehensive database of recruitment personnel, right across the UK and at all levels of recruitment. We keep in touch with candidates (both active and passive) regularly, and we can often provide clients with candidates who are registered exclusively with Frankland Associates Recruitment & Search.

Please contact us with your current vacancies; In many cases, we can tell you if we have a potential short list immediately; in cases where we don't have an immediate match we will agree terms and work hard to find a suitable candidate for your vacancies.

Candidates have advised us that they like to know about the following things when considering an interview invitation:

Full job brief and job description; Person specification; Interview process; Realistic salary and OTE levels

If you would like help writing any of these documents please contact us, we'll be pleased to help.

Candidate Profiles

Click here to bookmark the candidate profiles page in case you have an unexpected resignation.

We register new candidates regularly, so if the profiles page doesn't list anyone suitable for your current vacancies please call us for details of recent registrations

Your vacancies

CV's sent from Frankland Associates Recruitment & Search are always sent with the permission of the candidate.

Once you advise us of a vacancy, we will keep in touch with you regularly so that you can plan your recruitment strategy.

We can promise that every CV you receive from us will be well matched to your current vacancy needs.

Recommend us and be rewarded

Many of our new clients come via recommendations from current clients.

To recognise this great word of mouth advertising we have developed a reward scheme for clients who recommend us to others.

Rewards range from gifts through to discounts on placement fees.
